## Realcorp Commercial Cleaning: Commercial Cleaning South Melbourne – Strata, Offices, and Commercial Buildings in Melbourne's Inner South

Realcorp Commercial Cleaning operates in South Melbourne servicing residential strata towers, commercial offices, and mixed-use buildings across one of Melbourne's busiest inner-south precincts. Our current strata contract at Gravity Tower is a direct example of what compliance-first cleaning looks like in practice — a premium residential tower where presentation standards are maintained seven days a week, where residents expect documented results every time they step through the lobby, and where the cleaning contractor is a visible, accountable part of building operations.

South Melbourne is not the CBD, but it increasingly functions like one. Understanding that shift — and what it demands from a cleaning contractor — is central to how Realcorp approaches this market.

## South Melbourne: Premium Residential and Commercial in Transition

South Melbourne sits 2 kilometres south of the CBD, occupying a zone that has moved from industrial heritage to premium residential and commercial use over the past two decades. The suburb takes in Southbank's southern edge, the South Melbourne Market precinct, the emerging Ferrars Street creative and commercial corridor, and a growing collection of premium residential towers that attract owner-occupiers, short-term renters, and investors.

The suburb's residential stock is diverse: established low-rise apartments, heritage converted warehouses, and new premium towers like Gravity Tower that have cemented the suburb's reputation as a desirable address for professionals and downsizers. Commercial use is equally varied. Office tenancies are expanding south from the CBD, with boutique professional services firms, design studios, and technology companies taking space in converted buildings and purpose-built commercial floors throughout the suburb.

For a commercial cleaning contractor, South Melbourne means operating across multiple building types within a single suburb — and delivering to the premium standard that both residential and commercial tenants here expect. There is no room for inconsistency. Property managers and OC committees in this area are experienced, and they notice.

## Gravity Tower: Realcorp's South Melbourne Residential Anchor

Gravity Tower is a premium residential apartment tower in South Melbourne and one of Realcorp Commercial Cleaning's active strata clients. Cleaning a high-rise residential tower like Gravity requires a structured, documented service program covering every common area surface on a defined schedule. Ad hoc judgment is not a service model.

At Gravity Tower, Realcorp's scope includes:

- Ground floor lobby and reception — daily cleaning to maintain the presentation standard expected by residents and visitors to a South Melbourne tower at this price point
- Upper-floor lift lobbies and corridors — systematic cleaning of all residential floors including vacuuming, mopping, surface wiping, and glass cleaning where applicable
- Lift cars — daily interior cleaning including mirror cleaning, floor mopping, and button panel wiping
- Basement carpark and service areas — regular sweeping, oil treatment, and hygiene management of parking and service zones
- Bin rooms and recycling facilities — structured waste area cleaning to manage hygiene and odour in a high-density residential environment
- Pool, gym, and amenity areas — cleaning of resident amenity spaces including wet areas, gym floors, and communal lounges where included in scope

Gravity Tower and buildings like it set the benchmark for residential strata cleaning in South Melbourne. When Realcorp commits to a service schedule at a premium residential tower, GPS-verified attendance and digitally tracked checklists ensure delivery is documented on every visit — not just stated in the contract.

## Office and Commercial Cleaning in South Melbourne

South Melbourne's commercial sector is expanding. Law firms, financial services companies, health consultancies, and creative businesses have established a significant presence in the suburb's commercial buildings, particularly along Clarendon Street, Bank Street, and the Ferrars Street precinct.

Realcorp Commercial Cleaning services commercial offices and mixed-use buildings in South Melbourne including:

- Professional services offices — evening or early-morning cleaning programs for law firms, financial advisory, and professional services tenancies
- Creative and design studios — flexible

cleaning programs for design, architecture, and media businesses in South Melbourne's converted commercial spaces - Mixed-use buildings — coordinated cleaning of both residential strata and commercial office components in buildings that combine both uses - South Melbourne Market precinct — commercial cleaning for retail and food tenancies in and around one of Melbourne's most visited market precincts - Ferrars Street corridor — industrial conversion and creative industry tenancies along the commercial corridor south of the city

South Melbourne's commercial tenants hold the same standard as its residential occupants: consistent delivery, professional results, and a contractor who manages themselves.

## Why Direct Employment Matters in South Melbourne

Premium residential buildings like Gravity Tower and the professional offices of South Melbourne require one thing above all else from their cleaning contractor: reliability. The team entering a premium South Melbourne residential lobby at 6:30am needs to be a known quantity — police-cleared, trained, and directly accountable.

Realcorp Commercial Cleaning's direct employment model is built to deliver exactly that. Zero subcontractors. Every cleaner who accesses a South Melbourne building on our behalf is a Realcorp employee — nationally police-checked, trained through our structured onboarding program, and managed directly by Realcorp supervisors. One team, end to end.

This matters in South Melbourne for specific, operational reasons:

- Access control — premium residential and commercial buildings in South Melbourne maintain strict access logs. Realcorp's employment structure means we can account for every individual entering a building on our behalf, at any time, without exception
- Resident trust — residents of premium towers expect to see familiar faces. Direct employment drives staff retention, which means consistent teams and the institutional knowledge that comes from servicing the same building over time
- Property manager accountability — owners corporations and property managers need one point of contact and unambiguous accountability. Realcorp is that contractor — no subcontractor chains, no diffusion of responsibility

## GPS Verification and Reporting in South Melbourne

Every Realcorp shift in South Melbourne is GPS-logged. When our cleaners arrive at Gravity Tower or any other South Melbourne building, their attendance is time-stamped and geo-verified. Property managers accessing the Realcorp App can view attendance records in real time — no chasing, no guesswork.

Digital checklists completed on-site for every visit create a permanent, auditable service record for each building. That documentation is particularly valuable for owners corporation committees at large residential towers, where the committee is accountable to dozens or hundreds of lot owners for how building services are managed and funded.

Realcorp provides inspection-ready reporting for property managers — cleaning histories, attendance logs, and issue flags — all accessible through our client portal. Our money-back quality guarantee applies to every contracted service: if delivery falls short of standard, we return to rectify it at no cost.
