Realcorp Commercial Cleaning after-hours office cleaning Melbourne: cleaning while your business sleeps

Realcorp Commercial Cleaning delivers after-hours office cleaning across Melbourne — a fully completed, GPS-verified clean to an empty building, so your team arrives each morning to a workspace that's ready to go. No interruptions. No logistics to manage. No guesswork about whether it actually happened.

After-hours cleaning is the standard operating model for commercial offices in Melbourne, and it's the right one. Unobtrusive, efficient, and auditable — even when nobody from your organisation is on site.

## Why after-hours is the right model for most offices

### No disruption to productivity

Cleaning during business hours creates friction. Vacuum cleaners running through open-plan floors cut across calls and meetings. Mop buckets in corridors create trip hazards. Cleaners working around occupied desks miss high-touch surfaces because equipment or people are in the way. The logistics of cleaning occupied space mean the job is always partial — and the disruption is constant.

After-hours cleaning removes all of that. Your cleaner has full, unimpeded access to every surface. They can vacuum without disturbing anyone, clean bathrooms without occupancy conflicts, and move through every zone of your office systematically.

### Full access means a better clean

During business hours, roughly 30–40% of a typical office is inaccessible at any given time — occupied desks, meeting rooms in use, bathrooms with people in them. After-hours cleaning means 100% access. Every desk gets wiped. Every bathroom gets a complete clean. Every floor surface gets vacuumed wall to wall.

The quality difference is real. An after-hours clean is simply more thorough than a during-hours clean of the same duration. That's not a claim — it's a function of access.

### A quieter building, a better result

Industrial vacuum cleaners, floor scrubbers, and pressure spray equipment are not quiet. In an occupied office, that's a genuine problem. After-hours cleaning means your team never hears, sees, or has to work around the cleaning process. It happens between when your last person leaves and when your first person arrives — on a documented schedule, without anyone noticing.

## What after-hours office cleaning involves

A standard after-hours cleaning program for a Melbourne office covers:

**Arrival and setup:** Your Realcorp cleaner arrives at the agreed time, checks in via GPS through the Realcorp app, and follows your site-specific access protocol. Their arrival time is logged and available to you through the app — timestamped, location-confirmed, auditable.

**Main cleaning scope:** - Vacuuming all carpeted areas from wall to wall, including under desks where possible - Mopping all hard floor surfaces (entries, kitchens, bathrooms, breakout areas) - Emptying and relining all waste bins and recycling receptacles - Cleaning all bathroom facilities: toilets, urinals, basins, mirrors, floors, and restocking consumables (toilet paper, hand soap, paper towels) - Wiping down kitchen benches, splashbacks, and sink areas - Cleaning exterior-facing glass on entry doors and ground-floor windows - Spot cleaning internal glass partitions and whiteboard surfaces - High-touch surface disinfection: door handles, lift buttons, light switches, shared equipment

**Departure:** Check-out is recorded via GPS. Digital checklists are marked complete for each task. You receive a timestamped service record for the clean — available through the app before you arrive at the office the next morning.

## How GPS verification gives you proof without being there

The core challenge with after-hours cleaning is that you're not present to observe it. Most cleaning companies operate on trust at this point. That's where accountability gaps form — and where standards quietly erode.

Realcorp's GPS-verified attendance system addresses this directly. Every cleaner checks in via the Realcorp app on arrival at your premises. The check-in is GPS-confirmed to your building's location and timestamped. Every task completed is marked off in real time on a digitally tracked checklist specific to your site.

As a facilities manager, you can review last night's service record from your phone before you walk through the door. You'll see exactly what time your cleaner arrived, exactly what time they departed, which tasks were completed and marked off, and the total duration of the service.

If something wasn't completed — a bathroom missed, a bin not emptied — the checklist will show it, and we address it immediately. This is a structural accountability advantage over any cleaning provider operating on verbal confirmation or self-reporting. The record is auditable. The data is yours.

## Security: how after-hours access works

Handing a cleaning company access to your office after hours is a significant trust decision. Here's how Realcorp handles it, with documented accountability at every step.

**Police-cleared, directly employed staff.** Every Realcorp cleaner is directly employed by us — zero subcontractors, no casual agency labour. Police clearance is a condition of employment. You know exactly whose employee is in your building, and that employee is accountable to us.

**Key and access management.** We maintain a documented key register. Your keys or access cards are signed in and out by our operations team and held securely. We follow your building's specific access protocols and report any anomalies immediately.

**Alarm codes.** Where your premises uses a security alarm, we hold your code securely and follow your arming and disarming protocols precisely. If there's an incident — alarm triggered, unexpected situation — we have a direct line to your designated contact.

**Building management coordination.** For premises in managed buildings, we work within the building's contractor protocols, including after-hours access cards, service lift bookings, and loading dock scheduling where applicable.

The after-hours model is, in practice, more accountable than you might expect — fewer people in your building, a documented access trail, and a directly employed team with a company behind them that takes extreme ownership for what happens under your roof.

## What to expect when you start an after-hours program

**Site walk and quote.** We inspect your premises during business hours to understand the scope, access arrangements, and any site-specific requirements. Everything is documented, and you receive a written, scope-based quote.

**Onboarding.** Before your first clean, we set up your site in the Realcorp app, build your custom digital checklist, and ensure your cleaner has all required access information — keys, codes, building protocols — documented and confirmed.

**Your first clean.** We typically schedule the first clean at a time that allows for an initial review. Walking through the next morning and giving feedback on the first service is encouraged.

**Ongoing service.** After onboarding, the service runs without requiring your active management. You receive a digitally tracked service record after each clean and can review it any time through the app.

## After-hours cleaning for different office types

**Standard corporate offices.** The standard after-hours model: five nights per week, arriving after 6 PM or 7 PM, completing before the office opens at 8–9 AM the next morning. Consistent staff, consistent checklist, consistent record.

**Medical and allied health suites.** After-hours cleaning for healthcare environments includes higher-grade disinfection protocols for patient contact surfaces and stricter bathroom sanitisation standards. We accommodate TGA-listed disinfectant requirements where specified.

**High-turnover facilities.** Training facilities, co-working spaces, and education providers often need cleaning after each session rather than overnight. We schedule around your specific occupancy patterns.

**Premium corporate tenancies.** For high-specification offices where presentation standards are non-negotiable — reception areas, boardrooms, client-facing spaces — we assign consistent, directly employed staff to ensure familiarity with your site and your standards.

## Frequently asked questions

**What time do after-hours cleaners arrive?* Arrival time is agreed when we set up your service contract — typically 30–60 minutes after your last staff member's expected departure. Most Melbourne office cleans start between 6 PM and 8 PM. The agreed start time is documented, and actual arrival is GPS-verified through the Realcorp app. You can confirm the clean happened, and when it started, without needing to be present.

**How do I give cleaners access to my office after hours?* During onboarding, we document your specific access requirements — key sets, access cards, alarm codes, and any building management protocols. We maintain a secure key register and follow your documented procedures. For premises in managed buildings, we coordinate with building management to arrange contractor access. All access arrangements are documented and reviewed with you before the first clean.

**Is after-hours office cleaning more expensive than during-hours cleaning?* Not significantly. After-hours cleaning may carry a minor loading for late-night or early-morning shifts in some cases, but the more relevant factor is that after-hours cleaning typically delivers better outcomes per dollar — because the cleaner has unimpeded access and can complete the full scope without working around occupied space. A during-hours clean of the same duration will almost always cover less ground. Realcorp's standard rate is $60.00 AUD per hour, and we quote on-site to give you an accurate, scope-based price.
